Idea #1

- For my third idea, I think I want people's answers to my question of "If you could describe your experience New York City in one word, what would it be?" Each person's experience in a place they live is different. Some people have negative impressions while others have positive ones. I feel that it is important to highlight different opinions of the city and show that everyone's experience is valid. The city is not for everyone and it also can help other people who have never lived in a place like New York City to give them an idea of what it is like.
- Data:
 - One word answer
 - Reason behind your answer
 - How long the person has been in the city
 - Name of Burrow
 - A place the person wants to live other than NYC

If you could describe your experience New York City in one word, what would it be?

"New"

- I chose this word because I feel that NYC has so many new experiences for me and it is still an unfamiliar place.
- 7 and half months
- Manhattan
- Hawaii

Idea #2

- For my first idea, I want to form a collection of photos of different desserts at restaurants and cafes in New York City. Desserts available in the city is so vast and diverse that it is essential to highlight all types that exist. Pricing, location, alternative diet options, and rate of service/food quality all determine the likeliness a person goes to that place. Having a collection of clear and honest restaurant/cafe reviews will create a huge benefit.
- Data:
 - Name of restaurant, cafe, or etc.
 - Name of dessert
 - Location
 - Price
 - Rate of service and food quality 1 - 10
 - Vegan, vegetarian, gluten-free options
 - Time
 - Hours

- Prince Tea House
- Fruit Toast (with Vanilla Ice Cream)
- East Village
- $11.50
- Rating (Service/Food Quality): 9 / 10

Idea #3

- For my second idea, I want to form a collection of photos of shoes people are wearing at the moment. I feel that shoes that people wear tell a story, even if they are a fresh pair you just got or a pair you have had for a long time. I feel that shoe trends come and go very fast, and some shoe trends last longer than others. Some shoes were popular back then but suddenly came back many years later. Shoes have a culture, and many people are passionate about what they wear on their feet. Therefore, it is exciting and essential to know how people think about the shoes they wear.
- Data:
 - Shoe brand and model
 - Something special about them
 - How often the pair is worn
 - Price
 - When the pair was gotten (Month/Year)

- Nike / Air Force Pixel 1
- My mom got them for me for Christmas
- Everyday when I go out
- $110 + shipping
- In October or November of 2021
